New Delhi: As the government and the opposition are engaged in a battle for diplomatic victory for India in the UN General Assembly (UNGA), the Geneva-based ILC mission (ILC) by the United Nations (UN) has elected an Indian lawyer to its highest advisory body.

The mission was launched by the UN General Assembly in 1955 to study and report on all legal issues related to international law.

India is the only South Asian country to have been elected to the ILC.

The ILC is the highest advisory body of the UN to study and report on all legal issues related to international law.

India has been elected to the ILC four times, in 1963, 1999, 2004, and 2019.

The ILC consists of 15 members elected by the UN General Assembly for a term of three years, with each member serving a term of three years.

The ILC is responsible for drafting international law and producing recommendations to the General Assembly.

India’s delegation to the ILC was led by advocate Prashant Bhushan, a well-known lawyer who has represented several...
